Section A–A

Storey heights are illustrative only.

General notes

This document is synthetic sample content generated for the embed demo.
It describes no real building, no real party, and no real location.

The viewer is given this file by URL. It fetches it once, renders it, and holds any markup you draw until the host takes it. Nothing is stored here.

Search for the word FERROUS to see the text layer and the search index at work: it appears twice, both times on this sheet and nowhere else in the document, so a search should take you here and report two hits.

FERROUS fixings are indicated on the general arrangement as filled squares.

Markup you draw is emitted to the host as viewer.markupCreated. The demo host stores it against this document and hands it back on reload, which is the whole persistence story: the viewer forgets, the host remembers.
